Catwalk star Daisy Lowe is fronting the new spring season campaign for iconic fashion label Biba at House of Fraser (much loved by the WW team). The Seventies-inspired collection is available now with prices starting from €45.

MAXIMAGIC

If shorts and minis aren't for you this season (and we're with you on that!), maxi-mise your look with floor-sweeping dresses and skirts.

From billowing parachute silk dresses through to no-fuss column styles, maxi lengths have real longevity for the season ahead.

"There's a move from the usual boho styling to more of an elegant and cool look by layering knits and plain colour t-shirts over maxi skirts and smartening up long dresses with belts and blazers," suggests Luisa De Paula, buying and merchandising director for my-wardrobe.com.

Keep your feet on the ground with flat shoes for a modern take on the trend. Try dainty ankle boots and ballet flats for spring and toebaring sandals for sunshine days.

WE LOVE!

...RADLEY'S BEAUTIFUL SATCHEL BAG FROM ARNOTTS. I THINK WE HAVE BAG LOVE, IF SUCH A THING EXISTED.

ONE TO WATCH

Hats are very important to us in WW so it makes sense to buy one that'll stand the test of time. Step forward Shevlin Millinery. John Shevlin's late father started the Shevlin hat factory in Malahide, Co. Dublin in 1960. John continues to design and make hats and is the only ladies and gents felt and straw-hat manufacturer in Ireland. He is also the only producer of genuine Panama hats in both ladies and gents styles in plain or patterned straw. 2011 will see the addition of more new styles, materials and textures. Commissions are also taken and hats are also made to measure at no extra cost.

BAG IT UP!

Elegant and refined is certainly the way to go for accessories this year, particularly if you're a fan of the sheer/nude clothing trend. We think that Carl Scarpa's latest run of malas do the job perfectly - we are super impressed with the colour palette, offering a modern alternative to this season's rainbow brights.
